The 12th Annual Community Reading Challenge

Spring 2015

Dear Families,

Welcome to my Twelfth Annual Community Reading Challenge! This year's theme was taken from one of my favorite childhood books, The Three Musketeers, a story of adventure and friendship. Living by the motto, "All for One, One for All," the characters demonstrate the true meaning of friendship by supporting each other as a group and as individuals. As a community, I hope we can strive to live by this motto as well. In order to create a stronger community as one, we need to foster the qualities that make us unique, because each and every one of us has so much to offer.

Among the books in this reading list, you will find a variety of stories about characters coming to understand and value their unique qualities, in addition to the remarkable friendships that are formed when differences are set aside. I hope that with this list, you will have the chance to experience the stories of characters who are dealing with some familiar difficulties that face most of us, and some more unfamiliar troubles. We all experience challenges in life, and by learning more about the challenges that others face, we can gain strength to confront our own problems and understanding that will help forge us into a more unified and welcoming community.

In this booklet, in addition to the reading list, you will find a reading log, suggested activities, and tips for parents and guardians to encourage reading at home. The book list includes recommendations for Pre-K through eighth grade reading levels, along with some suggestions for readers at a more advanced level. I like to think there are great books at every level, so I hope you'll check out the books that look intriguing to you, regardless of reading level! Book Festivals will mark the end of the Community Reading Challenge, and give you an opportunity to celebrate your involvement—information about the parties can be found at the bottom of this page. The Festivals will feature guest author readings, activities, free books, food, prizes, and certificates for readers from the New York State Assembly!

I am kicking off my Community Reading Challenge on May 6th and the Book Festivals will run from May 21st–June 12th. If you have any questions about this year's Challenge or any other community issue, please don't hesitate to visit any of the participating libraries or call my Community Office at (212) 866-3970.

Very truly yours,

Daniel O'Donnell

Let's Get Started!

Estimadas familias:

¡Bienvenidos a mi Duodécimo Reto Anual de Lecturas de la Comunidad! El tema del reto de este año fue tomado de uno de mis libros infantiles favoritos, Los tres mosqueteros, una historia de aventura y amistad. Viviendo bajo la consigna, "Todos para uno y uno para todos," los personajes demuestran el verdadero significado de la amistad apoyándose el uno al otro en equipo y como individuos. Como comunidad, espero que nosotros también nos esforcemos por vivir bajo esta consigna. Para poder crear una comunidad más fuerte y unida, necesitamos celebrar las cualidades que nos hacen a todos personas únicas, porque cada uno de nosotros tiene mucho que ofrecer.

En los libros de esta lista de lecturas, encontrarán una variedad de historias sobre personajes que logran entender y valorar sus cualidades únicas, además de las grandes amistades que establecen al hacer las diferencias a un lado. Espero que con esta lista de lecturas, tengan la oportunidad de experimentar las historias de personajes que están enfrentando dificultades similares a las que la mayoría de nosotros enfrentamos, y algunos otros problemas menos comunes. Todos experimentamos retos en la vida, y al aprender más sobre los retos que otras personas enfrentan, podemos obtener fortaleza para afrontar nuestros propios problemas y un entendimiento que nos ayudará a formar una comunidad más unida y acogedora.

Además de la lista de lecturas, en este folleto encontrarán una página para anotar los libros leídos, actividades y eventos sugeridos, y consejos para padres y guardianes para estimular la lectura en el hogar. La lista de libros incluye recomendaciones para los niveles de lectura de prekínder a octavo grado, junto con algunas sugerencias para los lectores de un nivel muy avanzado. Considero que hay excelentes libros para todos los niveles de lectura, así que espero que les den un vistazo a los libros que les parezcan interesantes, independientemente de su nivel de lectura. Los Festivales de Libros marcarán el final del Reto de Lecturas de la Comunidad y les ofrecerán una oportunidad para celebrar su participación –la información sobre las fiestas está disponible en la parte inferior de esta página. ¡Los Festivales incluirán tiempo de lectura con autores invitados, actividades, libros gratis, comida, premios y certificados de la Asamblea del Estado de Nueva York para los lectores!

Iniciaré el Reto de Lecturas de la Comunidad el 6 de mayo y los Festivales de Libros se celebrarán del 21 de mayo al 12 de junio. Si tienen alguna pregunta sobre el Reto de Lecturas de este año o sobre cualquier otro asunto de la comunidad, por favor no dejen de visitar cualquiera de las bibliotecas participantes o llamen a mi oficina de la comunidad al (212) 866-3970.

Cordialmente,

Beyond Reading

Más allá de la lectura

Draw a picture, take a photo, write about your life...

Draw an idea, event, character, or action from a book you read.

Take a photo or draw a picture of yourself in a setting from your favorite book or depicting experiences you had similar to those of your favorite character.

Write about your favorite book, scene, or character, or tell us about an experience you had that relates to the Challenge theme of “All for One, One for All.”

Talk to your friends and family...

Have a conversation about a character, idea, or setting from a book you read.

Many of the suggested books discuss a problem or hardship the characters faced. How would you behave in their place?

Write down ideas you have or decisions you make based on your conversations.

Take action...

Tips for helping children develop a life-long love of reading:

Consejos para ayudar a los niños a desarrollar el amor por la lectura:

Excerpted from various lists on the Reading Is Fundamental website.

1. Begin reading to your children as soon as they can sit up in your lap and continue reading to and with them even after they enter school;
2. Books with bright, attractive pictures with only a few words as well as nursery rhyme and song books are most appropriate for babies and toddlers;
3. Board books, which are made for little hands to hold and are almost indestructible, are suitable for babies and toddlers. The New York Public Library has a collection of board books to read with your child;
4. Attend toddler and preschool programs at your local branch library that include reading and singing;
5. Set aside a regular time for reading with your children every day. Twenty minutes before bed time is a good practice but the important thing is that reading becomes a daily, joyful experience;
6. Give your children books as gifts;
7. Have your children choose their own books as soon as they start to show an interest in one type of book or author;
8. Encourage your children to get their own library cards;
9. Try a book swap. Ask friends, family, and teachers what books their children have enjoyed;
10. Encourage your child to create bookmarks to include with a gift book or to mark the place in your own book where you leave off during read-aloud time;
11. Incorporate reading with your children into daily activities such as reading recipes while you cook/bake or reading instructions together;
12. See a play, a movie or visit a location based on a book that your child has read;
13. Model good reading behavior and let your child see you reading for pleasure;
14. Have fun! Show your children the joy of reading and how it can open up a brand new world!

Extractos literarios de varias listas encontradas en el sitio Web Reading is Fundamental.

1. Empiecen a leerles a sus hijos tan pronto se puedan sentar en sus faldas y continúen leyendo con ellos después de que empiecen la escuela;
2. Los libros con dibujos llamativos con pocas palabras y los libros de canciones infantiles son los más apropiados para los bebés y los niños más pequeños;
3. Los libros para niños, contruidos de material de cartón, que están hechos para manos pequeñas, son prácticamente indestructibles, y son apropiados para bebés y niños pequeños. La Biblioteca Pública de Nueva York cuenta con una colección de estos libros infantiles que ustedes pueden leer con sus hijos;
4. Asistan a programas para niños pequeños y de edad preescolar en su biblioteca local que incluyan actividades para leer y cantar;
5. Destinen una hora del día para leer con sus hijos. Veinte minutos antes de dormir es una buena práctica, pero lo más importante es que la lectura se convierta en una experiencia diaria y divertida;
6. Obséquienles libros a sus hijos como regalos;
7. Permitan que sus hijos escojan sus propios libros tan pronto empiecen a demostrar un interés en algún tipo de libro o autor;
8. Animen a sus hijos a que obtengan sus propias tarjetas de la biblioteca;
9. Traten de hacer un intercambio de libros. Pregúntenles a sus amigos, familiares y maestros cuáles libros han disfrutado;
10. Estimulen a sus hijos a crear marcadores de páginas para obsequiarlos junto con algún libro o para marcar el lugar por donde van leyendo en sus propios libros;
11. Incorporen la lectura en actividades diarias con sus hijos, como leer las recetas de cocina mientras preparan la cena u hornean, o al leer instrucciones juntos;
12. Vean una obra de teatro, una película o visiten algún lugar mencionado en uno de los libros que sus hijos hayan leído;
13. Sean un buen ejemplo para sus hijos demostrándoles que ustedes leen porque disfrutan de la lectura;
14. ¡Diviértanse! Demuéstrenles a sus hijos lo entretenido que es la lectura y cómo puede abrirles las puertas a un mundo nuevo.
