The Bores Brief

Only have minutes to spare? Here's what you need to know:

- This month, our team gained new members in our district staff. Join me in welcoming Yael Heller, our new Chief of Staff, as well as Chloe Belle, Sofia Mazuera, and Mark Badolato who are serving as your District Office Managers. Please visit our office or give us a call at 212-605-0937 for any help you may need.
- We are only weeks away from Early Voting and Election Day for the November General Election. Make sure to utilize all available resources as you prepare to cast your ballot. Early Voting begins on Saturday, October 24 and runs through Sunday, November 1. Election Day is on Tuesday, November 3, and the polls will be open from 6:00 AM – 9:00 PM. The website and phone number for the New York Voter Protection Hotline are included on the second page of this newsletter.
- As we transition to the fall, our community's Lexington Avenue Street Fair will close out this year's street fair season on Sunday, October 18. Gathering with neighbors and local organizations is an invaluable tradition in our district. Please stop by our table to say hello!

Implementing the RAISE Act:

Assemblymember Bores joined Governor Hochul, Attorney General James, and Seantor Gounardes to announce the deputy director of the Office of Digital Innovation, Governance, Integrity, and Trust (DIGIT), the agency created by his RAISE Act.

The DIGIT office will serve as the main enforcement of digital and technological safety in New York, and is the strongest such agency in the country. The office will ensure massive AI developers adhere to strict safety and reporting standards for their services.

Testimony at New York City Council AI Oversight Hearing:

Alex testified before the New York City Council at the AI Oversight Hearing to discuss how the legislative safeguards passed in the NYS Assembly are also needed to protect the community at the City level. Alex testified that the government has the capability to regulate AI companies and that it is the City's "power and responsibility" to take AI safety threats seriously. Accountability for these companies needs to exist, and that work has started from our district.

United Nations General Assembly Week:

During United Nations General Assembly Week, the Assemblymember led several discussions about AI policy with world leaders. He met with Danish Parliamentarians to discuss his bill, pending before the Governor, protecting children from chatbots that simulate human experiences. The Assemblymember also spoke with Australian leaders who hosted a discussion about his Artificial Intelligence Training Data Transparency Act (A6578) (also before the Governor) which requires AI services to disclose the datasets used by developers that train the generative model or service. These bills introduced in the New York Assembly are being viewed as standard bearers across the globe.

Sincerely,

Alex Bores
Your Assemblymember

IN THE COMMUNITY

Assemblymember Bores joined the East Side 9/11 Remembrance Ceremony, "Lighting the Way" to commemorate the 25th Anniversary of the September 11 Attacks. This year, Justice James Clynnes was acknowledged for his transparency releasing the previously hidden documents of New York City's air quality following the attacks.

Alex met with neighbors at the annual Third Avenue Street Fair. Community members met with the Alex and district staff at our table to ask questions and receive information about City and State public resources. Fairgoers also enjoyed bouncy castles for children, delicious food, shopping, and learning about local organizations that help our community thrive.

Broadway came back to the East River this month with the Sutton Place Parks Conservancy's outdoor production of Brigadoon! Team Bores supports the production every year.

Neighbors gathered outdoors to once again experience the Conservancy deliver Broadway-caliber talent and performances. Don't miss next year's show!
