April is

National Autism Awareness Month

Our differences are our greatest strength.

ACCEPT. APPRECIATE. INCLUDE.

Dear Friends and Neighbors,

April is National Autism Awareness Month. I am proud to co-sponsor a resolution in the Assembly to proclaim April as Autism Acceptance Month in the State of New York. The Autism Society of America began a nationwide awareness campaign in the early '70s that was adopted by Congress in 1984 and strengthened by the release of the autism awareness ribbon in 1999. Autism Acceptance Month continues those efforts to spread awareness and also promote acceptance and ignite change. Autism is the fastest growing developmental disorder in the United States. 1 in 54 children are diagnosed with autism spectrum disorder, totaling over 5 million young people and adults. This year we continue our efforts to build a better awareness of the signs, symptoms, and realities of autism, and to provide information and resources to communities.

Protect yourself and others from COVID-19 and get vaccinated. The City sites are open to walk-ins of any eligible age.

NY Weighs Making Sexual Harassment a Crime;
Would Be Nation's First

"ALBANY — Sexual harassment is prohibited under state and federal law, but it's not a crime. Two bills in Albany would change that by creating the nation's first sexual harassment crime, punishable by jail time rather than fines or firing allowed under civil law."

Seawright Introduces First-In-The-Nation Bill To

Establish Statute to Convict Public Servants of Sexual Harassment

“As a former assistant district attorney, I feel that we need to define sexual harassment, update our statutes,” Seawright said.

"NEW YORK (CBSNewYork) — A state assembly member from Manhattan is seeking to create a first-in-the-nation bill that would increase the punishment for public servants convicted of sexual harassment.

They could receive a jail sentence instead of fines and the possibility of being fired, CBS2's political reporter Marcia Kramer reported Monday."

Seawright Passes Legislative Resolution to Recognize April 2021 as Poetry Month in New York State

NEW YORK STATE ASSEMBLY

HON. REBECCA A. SEAWRIGHT
(D) 76TH ASSEMBLY DISTRICT

"It is so important for us to recognize the extraordinary legacy of American poetry, promote the works of modern poets, and the importance of poetry in children's education. I would especially like to recognize the late Florence Howe who was a native New Yorker, a graduate of Hunter College, a champion of the women's liberation movement, and the founder of the Feminist Press which made available "A Legacy of Writings By and About Women." She promoted republishing the works of authors including Zora Neale Hurston, Willa Cather, and Alice Walker.

New York is home to some of the most important poets: Walt Whitman, Emma Lazarus, Langston Hughes, Allan Ginsberg, Audre Lord, and Eileen Myles. As the birthplace of the New York School of Poets in the 1960s, New York is home to a movement like no other that revolutionized this art form. Poetry and activism have always converged in history during the abolition, suffrage, sexual liberation, and civil rights movements. We owe these poets a debt of gratitude and they should be recognized by the State of New York," said Assembly Member Rebecca Seawright.

Seawright Statement on the Verdict of the Derek Chauvin Trial

This week the verdict of the Derek Chauvin trial for the murder of George Floyd was a vital and profound step towards justice in America. It is, however, a beginning step towards genuine law enforcement reform to assure all of the citizenry that such tragedies will never happen again. We need to scrutinize the conditions that lead to the horrible abuse of power against people of color and in particular Black Americans. As we strive to eliminate the virus of the pandemic we must simultaneously eradicate the virus of racism. So let us view today's verdict as a new start, not the conclusion, to a new day in accountable police reform," said Assembly Member Rebecca Seawright.

Speaker Carl Heastie and Assembly Member Rebecca

Seawright Announced the Passage of a Package of Bills to Combat Climate Change on the 51st Anniversary of Earth Day

...protecting our environment for future generations

- Establish zero-emission goals, including requiring 100% of new passenger cars and trucks sold in state to be zero emission by 2035 (A.4302)
- Prohibit the use of fracking wastewater on New York roads (A.903)
- Increase electric vehicle accessibility for more New Yorkers (A.3876)
- Prohibit hotels from providing small hospitality bottles for personal care products to help cut down on plastic waste (A.5082)

"The Assembly Majority remains committed to protecting our environment and the health of all New Yorkers," said Speaker Heastie. "The legislation passed in today's Earth Day package builds on the standards we set in the Climate Leadership and Community Protection Act to ensure a safe and healthy environment for generations to come."

"We are committed to preserving our environment and our natural resources for generations to come," said Assembly Member Seawright. "As the threat of climate change becomes more prevalent with each passing year, it's more important than ever to recognize Earth Day and do what we can to create a more sustainable future."

The bills in the package create opportunities to reduce or eliminate these barriers and encourage the use of electric vehicles so that we can reduce dangerous emissions and preserve our environment for generations of New Yorkers.

Several large car manufacturers have already made commitments to drastically increase the production of zero-emission vehicles over the next two decades.

This year's state budget also makes critical investments in environmental conservation with the "Restore Mother Nature" environmental bond act, which will be voted on by New Yorkers in 2022 and protecting farmlands, funding for clean water infrastructure and the state Environmental Protection Fund.

The Assembly has previously passed the historic Climate Leadership and Community Protection Act of 2019 (CLCPA), which sets goals to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and increase our use of renewable energy.

To help cut down on plastic waste that fills landfills and pollutes the environment, the Assembly passed legislation to ban hotels from providing small hospitality bottles for personal care products.

"These measures are crucial steps toward building a brighter, more sustainable future for our families," said Seawright. "But we know that our work is far from done."

In Case You Missed It: Earth Day Town Hall

This week's Town Hall Tuesday was a celebration of Earth Day with neighborhood environmentalists and preservationists. We were pleased to be joined by President of Carnegie Hill Neighbors Lo van der Valk, Friends of the East River Esplanade Board Chair Dr. Jennifer Ratner, CIVITAS Board Vice President Jim Tripp, and East 79 Street Neighborhood Association member Wendy Machaver. Watch the full 46th Town Hall Tuesday here.

Restoring Voting Rights

The Assembly Majority passed a bill that restores voting rights, advances social justice and helps ensure all New Yorkers can fully participate in democracy.

(A.4448-A)

The Assembly has passed legislation that would restore voting rights to individuals released to parole supervision to facilitate community reintegration and participation in the civic process.

Seawright said "I am proud to co-sponsor A4448 to restore the voting rights of formerly incarcerated New Yorkers. I hope this will be just the first of many steps in support of the formerly incarcerated and to overturn voter suppression of nearly 43,000 formerly incarcerated New Yorkers -- nearly three-fourths of whom are Black or Latinx who have completed their prison sentence."

Today's legislation would restore voting rights to individuals released and under supervision, rather than delaying restoration of the right to vote for months or years until the person has been discharged from parole or reached the maximum expiration (supervision) date. Additionally, the legislation would establish requirements to ensure these individuals are notified that their voting rights are restored upon release.
