

Rebecca Seawright

ASSEMBLYMEMBER

Dear Friends and Neighbors,

It has been a busy and productive start to this legislative session. Next week hundreds of New Yorkers will gather at the capitol to rally for the second passage of our Equality Amendment.

During a special session In July, the New York State Legislature voted for first passage, the first step toward amending the New York State Constitution to bar discrimination on the basis of sex, including sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, pregnancy, pregnancy outcomes, reproductive healthcare and autonomy.

Our State Constitution must extend protections to all New Yorkers, particularly those who have faced pervasive injustice. I look forward to next week's rally and action in support of second passage so voters can decide on their ballots in 2024.

Please don't hesitate to reach out if we can be of assistance.
