Roads Update

From left: Briarcliff Mayor Steve Vescio, Ossining Town Supervisor Liz Feldman, State Senator Pete Harckham, Ossining Village Mayor Rika Levin, Westchester County Legislator Emiljana Ulaj, myself, and Ossining Town Councilmembers Angelo Manicchio and Jennifer Fields-Tawil

Repaving on Route 9A in Croton and Ossining got underway earlier this month. It was a pleasure to join Senator Pete Harckham, Westchester County Legislator Emiljana Ulaj, and local officials from Briarcliff Manor and the Town and Village of Ossining in early November to announce the start of this long-awaited project. You can watch that announcement here. As this work continues, please drive carefully through work zones, obey all posted signage and leave extra time for detours and such if you are traveling in the work area.

Please know that this is just the beginning for Route 9A, and that I will continue to push for all of our troubled state roads to be fixed. Most recently, I have teamed up with my colleague who represents New Castle, Assemblymember Chris Burdick, to reiterate our strong concerns about a troubled stretch of 133 (Somerstown Road in Ossining to roughly the intersection with Barnes Road in New Castle). We have asked that repaving of this road segment be added to the capital plan as soon as possible. Our NYSDOT regional office has indicated that they will keep this stretch of road on their radar for future paving projects, and will ask the maintenance team to see if there is any work that can be done on them prior to the onset of winter.

Around The District

It has been a very busy ten weeks since my last update! In that time, I have delivered additional grant funding, honored more than 175 individuals and organizations for their contributions to our communities, and met with hundreds of constituents and advocates throughout the district.

Drought Warning

Our area is under a drought warning. Here is some more information about what that means and how we can conserve water, from New York State's Department of Environmental Conservation:

A "warning" is the second of four levels of state drought advisories ("watch," "warning," "emergency" and "disaster"). There are no statewide mandatory water use restrictions in place under a drought watch or warning but residents are strongly encouraged to voluntarily conserve water. Local public water suppliers may impose water use restrictions depending upon local needs and conditions.

To protect water resources, homeowners in regions under the drought watch or drought warning are encouraged to voluntarily reduce water use and follow these tips:

- Reuse water collected in rain barrels, dehumidifiers or air conditioners to water plants.
- Use a broom, not a hose, to clean driveways and sidewalks.
- Fix leaking pipes, fixtures, toilets, hoses and faucets.
- Wash only full loads of dishes and laundry.
- Take shorter showers or fill the bathtub partly.
- Install water saving plumbing fixtures.
- Don't run the tap to make water hot or cold.
- Wash cars less frequently.

New York State Department of Health is in contact with public water suppliers to convey any potential steps they need to take. For water wells that may be affected by drought, contact a registered water well contractor to discuss appropriate options for your individual situation.

Make Yourself Heard

New York Power Authority (NYPA) Renewable Energy Comment Period: NYPA is seeking public comment on the latest draft of its renewable energy strategic plan. Click here to read the draft plan, learn more about the initiative and access public comment opportunities. There will be virtual public hearings from 10 AM - noon and 6-8 PM on Thursday, November 21, and written public comment will be accepted through December 9. Comments can be submitted to: StrategicPlanComments@nypa.gov. If you would like to speak at the virtual public hearing, click here to sign up.

For my part, I have signed onto a joint letter with colleagues in the Assembly requesting that the draft plan increase its target to aim for building 15 gigawatts of renewable energy capacity. Doing so will help New York State protect ratepayers from the kinds of utility rate hikes we currently experience with entities like Con Edison and Central Hudson, in addition to its positive impact on the environment. For those interested in more details, the full letter will be available on the Publications page of my website soon.

Take My Surveys: If you have not already done so, please be sure to complete my open surveys. Many of you have already responded to the Issues survey that was included in my recent print newsletter; it is also available here and among the buttons on my home page if you have not yet seen it. I also recently opened a survey inquiring about constituent experiences with the healthcare system; you can click here to take that survey. My office will analyze and publish the results in our upcoming winter print newsletter and in my January e-news.

New Laws for November 2024

New state laws go into effect every month. Of particular interest this month are new laws requiring increased transparency regarding rate increases from utility companies, strengthening penalties for reckless drivers and organized retail theft, outlawing wildlife killing contests, increasing protections for children with disabilities, and authorizing direct-to-consumer shipping of alcoholic beverages. The Clean Slate Act also goes into effect this month, enabling formerly incarcerated people who have paid their debt to society and turned their lives around to have their criminal records sealed to most (but not all) audiences. Click here to read more about the Clean Slate Act.
