Putting Education First

"Every parent knows a quality education makes all the difference in setting their children up for success. This starts with giving parents a voice and teachers the resources they need in their classrooms. Since day one, I've been a strong voice for teachers in Albany, fighting to protect their jobs and create a better learning environment for our students."

Here are some proposals I'm working on to improve public education:

- ✓ Increase state funding so lower-income students have an equal opportunity to succeed. (A.2545)
- ✓ Make sure schools get the funding they need to stay safe, modern, and well maintained. (A.2488)
- ✓ Require agricultural instruction to help students at all grade levels learn where their food comes from, how agriculture works, and build job skills for future opportunities. (A.3638)
- ✓ Open doors for students to earn a degree without being buried in debt. (A.175)
