

VOLUNTEER FIREFIGHTERS AND EMERGENCY MEDICAL SERVICE PROVIDERS

Volunteer emergency services personnel provide critical services to our communities and save taxpayers billions of dollars per year statewide. I have often said our volunteer emergency workers are the backbone of our rural communities. As part of National Volunteer Week, many fire departments will open their doors for the annual recruitment-based open house event, RecruitNY. Those interested in learning more should contact their local fire department to see if it is participating in this year's drive.

WHAT: RecruitNY

WHERE: Your local fire department.

WHEN: April 13 and 14

To find your local fire department, contact your local county's Emergency Management Office.

Dear Neighbor,

April 2024

Sacrifice and spirit are the hallmarks of volunteerism, an important value you see in every vibrant community. We're at our best when we devote our time, talent, and energy to making life a little better, a little easier, and a little brighter for our neighbors and our community.

Some of the bravest people in our communities are volunteer firefighters and emergency medical service workers. They put their lives on the line to save us from the most dangerous situations imaginable. Like I've always said, our volunteer firefighters and emergency workers are the backbone of our rural communities. They save lives, protect our communities, and save our families, seniors, small businesses, and manufacturers in our local communities over $4 billion annually in property taxes.

April 13th and 14th is the annual Recruit NY weekend, a great opportunity to learn more about your local volunteer fire departments, in addition to some of the tax and educational benefits available to volunteer firefighters and emergency medical service workers. This brochure contains more information about this program and the upcoming weekend.

There are so many other important and impactful ways to get involved in serving your community. There are special programs that serve our brave and heroic veterans. There are programs that connect our treasured seniors to volunteer opportunities. I am also encouraging our young people to get involved through their local youth bureaus. This brochure has more information about available volunteer opportunities and the contact information for these impactful organizations. There isn't a better time to get involved.

April is National Volunteer Month. There are plenty of programs that need motivated people just like you. Get out there and share your talents and compassion with your community and the friends and neighbors you share it with. Thank you so very much for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Assemblyman Phil Palmesano

Join your friends, family or co-workers and get engaged with your community! In our fast-paced society, it can be hard to find time to give back, but truly improving the quality of life for your friends and neighbors is one of the most powerful things you can do. The United Way offers great opportunities for businesses to set up team volunteering opportunities for their employees. It is great team building!
