Assemblyman Steve Hawley believes that all New Yorkers deserve fair pay. He believes that his friends and neighbors deserve strong protections against violence at home and discrimination in the workplace. That is why he pushed hard for passage of Women's Equality legislation. He delivered. Assemblyman Hawley passed laws to:

- Ensure that women receive equal pay for equal work
- Protect women from sexual harassment in the workplace
- Reimburse attorney fees when they prevail in housing, credit or employment discrimination cases
- Outlaw discrimination against mothers during the hiring process
- Prohibit housing discrimination against victims of domestic violence
- Allow domestic abuse victims to file orders of protection online
- Support mothers-to-be in the workplace
- Strengthen penalties against human traffickers

“My Great Aunt, Ella Hawley Crosssett, was an influential figure in the women’s suffrage movement. I know she would be proud of my accomplishments in the fight for women’s equality.”
